ROOSEVELT'S EXPECTED HOME

Patrick McCarren Due to Be Bounced From Democratic State Committee Today.

GRAND OPERA SEASON OPEN

OTHER EVENTS SCHEDULED FOR THIS WEEK.

President Roosevelt is expected to return to Washington this evening, after one of the most remarkable journeys ever undertaken by an American chief executive. He has traveled thousands of miles by sea, crossed the narrow strip of land which separated the Atlantic and Pacific oceans where the Americas meet, inspected the work being done on the great isthmian canal and incidentally shattered the tradition that an American president must not, during his term of office, visit any land other than his own. During his stay on the isthmus the president visited the republic of Panama and for a time was under the protection of the Panamanian flag. On his return voyage he made a brief call at Porto Rico.

A congress for consideration of methods of social education will be held in Boston this week. The first session will be held on Friday, and the meetings will continue for three days. Many authorities on social science will participate in the meetings and take part in the discussion on a wide range of subjects.

McCarren Will Fight.

An aftermath of the recent election in New York state which promises to attract wide attention is scheduled for Monday, when a special committee of the New York state Democratic committee will meet in New York city to investigate charges of party irregularity against Patrick H. McCarren, the Democratic leader in Kings county. Mr. McCarren has been quoted as saying that he will make no defense before the committee as he is convinced that he will be removed as a member, but that he will carry the fight to the courts.

Three officers of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, who were indicted on charges of grand larceny and forgery, following the insurance investigation of a year ago, will go on trial Monday. They are Frederick A. Burnham, president of the company; George D. Eldridge, secretary; and George Burnham, secretary.

Discharge of Negro Soldiers.

A mass meeting to voice a demand that congress make a full investigation of the dismissal from the army of the negro soldiers of the 24th and 25th central postal directories, scheduled to be held at Cooper Union in New York city next Thursday. Also some time during the week a large delegation of the most prominent citizens will have been retained on behalf of the negro soldiers, will visit President Roosevelt at Washington and urge him to reopen the case.

The grand opera season in New York will open the week ending November 26, with the Metropolitan opera house with Gounod's "Roméo and Juliet." The reason will continue about four months.

Many of the most prominent prelates of the Roman Catholic church in America will gather at Richmond, Va., on Thanksgiving day to take part in the ceremonies attending the dedication of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart. The new edifice, which will take place as one of the four greatest cathedrals in the world, is the gift of Thomas F. Ryan, the New York financier.

Gillette Trial.

The trial of Chester Gillette, charged with the murder of Grace Brown, his one-time sweetheart, who attracted wide attention, will be continued at Herkimer this week. The prosecution is expected to finish its case by the end of the week, and the defense then for the first time will show its hand. Much speculation as to what plan Gillette's attorneys will adopt to exonerate their client under circumstances set up by the state has been roused, but up to this time not even a hint of what the defense plan has been permitted to become public.

The big sporting event of the week will be the annual football game between the football gridiron between the army and navy. The match will be played at Philadelphia on Sunday. A flat battle for the heavyweight championship of the world is scheduled for Thanksgiving day. The contestants will be Philadelphia Jack, a native of Tommy Burns and the scene of the conflict Los Angeles.

Morocco Question.

The diplomatic battle will meet at Tangier, Morocco, Nov. 27 for the purpose of considering the new international agreement and the enforcement of its provisions. The United States has not yet approved the treaty carrying into enforcement the agreement reached at the Algiers conference, but Dec. 12 has been fixed as the date of its consideration by the United States senate.

A special emergency meeting of the National Liberal federation has been called to meet in London Nov. 27, when a preliminary resolution at the conference will deal with the education bill, which is at present agitating England, and will declare that the return of the Liberal party to power has again raised the question whether the house of lords or the house of commons shall prevail, and will declare more that the bill as it reached the house of lords contained the maximum of government concessions. The bill passed through its committee stage in the house of lords Nov. 22 after a discussion covering fifteen days.

The suit brought by the creditors of Count Boni de Castellane will be resumed before the tribunal of first instance in Paris Nov. 28, when Maître Cruppi, counsel for Madame Gould, formerly the Countess de Castellane, will reply to the arguments presented by attorneys for the creditors.

HUNGARIAN BUDGET.

Increase Mainly on Account of Expenditures for the Army.

Budapest, Nov. 25.—Sittings of the Austro-Hungarian delegates were opened here today. Francis Joseph, the emperor-king, received the members of the delegations in the throne room of the royal palace in Budapest. Replying to the address of greeting, his majesty said that Austria-Hungary's proper line of conduct was the cultivation of close relations with allied states, an agreement with Russia concerning the Balkans, and friendly relations with all powers.

The joint budget for 1907 was submitted to the delegates and shows a demand for a net credit amounting to $2,635,455, or $4,191,582 in excess of the budget of 1906. This increase is mainly on account of army expenditures.

HOTEL KEEPER FOULLY SLAIN

J. Frank Emery of Kansas City, Kan., Victim of Drunken Would-Be Robbers.

NEGRO PORTER WOUNDED

MISCREANTS EASILY CAPTURED BY POLICE.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 25.—In an attempt to hold up and rob J. Frank Emery, proprietor of the Kentucky house, a second rate hotel at 905 North Sixth street, in Kansas City, Kan., this evening, Emery was shot and killed and Lee Simons, a negro porter, was shot in the shoulder and slightly wounded. Charles Rumble, aged 32, an iron molder from Independence, Mo., one of the would-be robbers, was shot in the cheek by officers, who pursued him, and Sam Hutton, a negro, down Minnesota avenue, the principal street in the city, Rumble's wound is not serious. Both Rumble and Hutton were arrested. Hutton's home is in Kansas City, Kan.

Shooting of Emery.

Rumble and Hutton were intoxicated. They entered the Kentucky house and, walking over to the desk, told Emery to hand over his money. No guests were in the lobby at the time. Emery told them to get out, that he had no money. The men staggered from the desk, apparently to make their departure. When they reached the door, however, Rumble braced himself against the negro and with a shaky hand fired two shots at the hotel proprietor. Guests rushed into the lobby and found Emery dead, lying across the clerk's desk. One bullet from Rumble's revolver went wild. The second had pierced Emery's chest just below the heart, causing almost instantaneous death.

Capture of Desperados.

Rumble and Hutton fled down the rear stairway. They encountered Simon, the porter, who had been attracted by the shots and was just ascending the steps. Rumble fired a shot at Simon, struck the porter in the shoulder, and the two robbers rushed by him and bolted for the street. The police station is situated immediately across the street from the hotel and officers were alerted. Within a minute or two after the first shot rang out, Rumble and Hutton were seen by the officers on Minnesota block from the hotel and gave chase, firing as they ran. One bullet struck Rumble a glancing blow on the cheek and caused the molder, because of his drunken condition, to stagger and fall. Hutton stopped running when he realized that Rumble had been shot and the pair were soon placed in jail.

Simon also was taken to the station and his wound dressed. There it was stated that the wounds of both Rumble and Simon were slight. The robbers secured no booty.

Forced Negro to Help.

Rumble appears to have forced the negro Hutton to join him in the attempted hold-up. After the two men were arrested, a woman who saw them enter the hotel door and ascend to the office, which is situated on the second floor, told the police she overheard Rumble say to Hutton:

"It's money we want. If you don't stay with me I'll kill you."

Rumble and the negro had been seen during the day, drinking together.

BRITISH BAPTIST CALLED

Dr. Charles F. Aled of Liverpool Offered the Pulpit of Fifth Avenue Church, New York.

New York, Nov. 25.—Dr. Charles F. Aled, pastor of the Pembroke Baptist church, Liverpool, England, who recently received a call to become pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church of this city, in addressing that congregation today, said:

"In asking me to become your pastor, you have bestowed on me the greatest honor I could ever hope to attain. When you invite me to become one of you, to take up the great work of this great church, you give me the opportunity to accomplish the desire of my life, to become an American citizen, to be an American. I have loved this country since I have been a child. I have studied its ways and its people; I have been an American-born on the wrong side of the realization of my dreams and vision, more, for you invite me to become the head of one of the greatest and most influential churches of this country."

"I am confronted with a problem to which I must give much thought. Before I can say to you that I accept your call I must return to my home to consult those to whom I feel I belong, who have worked by my side for sixteen years, and who are a great part of my existence."

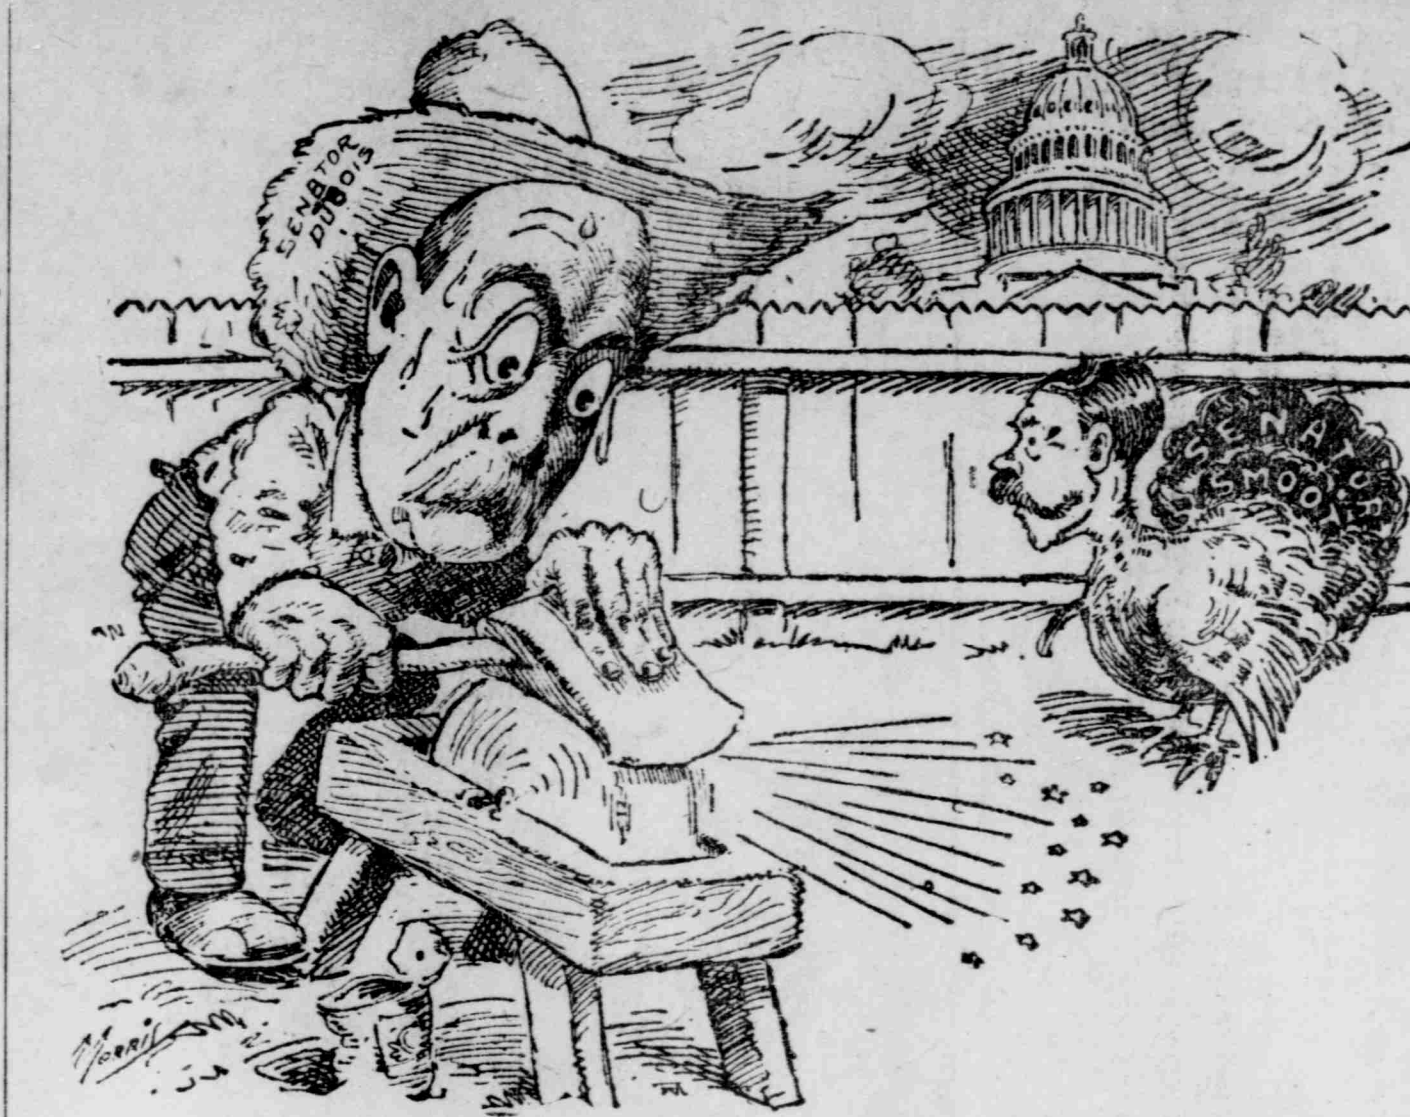

"I shall return to my country within a few days, and in the quiet and rest of my own home I can read my mind and decide what shall be my course."

FIVE HUNDRED MEN ON BOARD

French Torpedo Schoolship Burns at Toulon With a Loss of Only Three Lives.

Toulon, France, Nov. 25.—The torpedo schoolship Algebras, stationed in this harbor, was totally destroyed by fire at a late hour this evening. There were five hundred men on board when the fire broke out, but it is believed that most of them were saved. The Algebras was a ship of the line and, for a number of years past, she had been doing duty as a harbor vessel and employed as a torpedo training ship. She was of 2,600 tons displacement and was built in 1885.

The burning of the schoolship created the greatest alarm throughout the city. News of the fire was first conveyed at about 11 o'clock by the firing of a cannon in the harbor. The people hurriedly left the cafes and theatres and rushed to the docks, whence they could see the Algebras a mass of flames in the harbor. The burning vessel stood out brilliantly in the encircling darkness, and the glare of the flames lit up the other shipping and the coast and wharves.

Only Three Lives Lost.

There was terrible anxiety concerning the fate of the 500 men on board, until the authorities announced that everybody had been taken off in boats and saved, with the exception of three. These men did not perish in the burning of the ship, but were burned to death.

The entire garrison here was called out to render assistance and the crews of the warships of this division hurriedly launched their boats to go to the rescue of their comrades who were on board the Algebras for purposes of instruction. Tugboats and fireboats, as well as several steamers lying in port, slipped their anchors and likewise went out to help.

Toledo, O., Nov. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. James Scott Mitchell of Salem, Mass., were found dead in bed in a rooming house at Bellevue, east of here, this morning. When they were entered a strong odor of formaldehyde gas was noticed. Coroner Vermilya rendered a verdict of double suicide. Later investigation, however, revealed facts which it is said tended to show that Mitchell dragged his wife and caused her death and then committed suicide by the same means.

They have been traveling together for several years, the woman as a palmist and the man under the name of Ollie Courtland. No cause for the tragedy is known.

CONGRESS MAY TAKE MATTER UP

Postoffice Department Can Do Nothing Regarding Canada's Notice on Second Class Mail.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The postoffice department will be guided by congressional legislation in dealing with the issue raised by the Canadian government in abrogating the provisions of the postal convention between the two countries relating to second class matter which, according to Canada's notice, will expire May 1, 1907. This provision permits the transportation through the mails of periodical publications, which include newspapers at the rate of 1 cent a pound. A joint commission of the senate and the house, of which Senator Penrose's chairman, has been engaged since October 1 in taking testimony covering the whole subject of the mails of periodical publications, which include newspapers at the rate of 1 cent a pound. A joint commission of the senate and the house, of which Senator Penrose's chairman, has been engaged since October 1 in taking testimony covering the whole subject of the mails of periodical publications, which include newspapers at the rate of 1 cent a pound.

For some time past the Canadian government has found fault with the construction placed on some classes of second class mail matter by this government when it came to the matter of its application for transmission through Canadian territory. Probably 100 different periodicals which are transmitted through the United States mails at second class rates have been denied similar privileges in the Canadian mail service, although some of them were subsequently restored to the privilege. American periodicals have enjoyed a large circulation throughout Canada, which, with their attractive advertisements, it is suggested at the postoffice department, have worked out a substantial benefit to the Canadians and to the periodicals published there.

REWARD OFFERED FOR MURDERERS

D. C. Jackling Will Give $500 for Arrest of Slayers of Thomas White.

INQUEST IS COMPLETED

CONFLICTING THEORIES AS TO CAUSE OF DEATH.

 $500 REWARD.  Bingham Central Mining company, through D. C. Jackling, vice president and general manager, offers a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Thomas H. White. *****

The announcement of the above reward was a significant development yesterday in connection with the inquiry following the death of Thomas White at Bingham early Saturday morning.

The mystery which surrounds the killing of White is still unfathomed. Several theories have been advanced, but though the murder theory is persisted in by the officers of the mine.

The theory that the shooting may have been accidental is gaining credence in some quarters. He was shot through the breast by his own gun and it is argued that the gun may have been accidentally discharged while White was handling it. Others think that for some unknown motive White may have committed suicide, though this supposition is not brooked by any of the dead man's friends.

The inquest was concluded yesterday morning. No new facts were disclosed by the evidence which would throw any further light on the tragedy. The coroner's jury will return a verdict this morning. In the meantime John and Mike Sodigan are being held on suspicion.

WILL APPEAR WEDNESDAY

Caruso Billed to Sing in "La Boheme" Unless Taken Ill in the Meantime.

New York, Nov. 25.—It was stated tonight at the manager's office of the Metropolitan opera house that Enrico Caruso's voice, which had been affected, had improved to such an extent that the tenor would positively appear Wednesday evening unless an unforeseen illness prevented. Caruso himself, it was said, was disposed to fill his engagement, and was unaware of a reason why he should not. Caruso is billed to sing "La Boheme" to Mme. Sembrich's Mimi.

Since Caruso's conviction for annoying neighbors in Central park, the persistent rumors that he would not appear in public at present. CALLS FOR FREEDOM OF A PITY THING

Church Must Get Onto the Job, Says Speaker at Unitarian Church.

POINTS TO PHILADELPHIA

CONFLICTING THEORIES AS TO ATTITUDE OF SMUG CHURCHMEN PERMITS CORRUPTION.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS FROM SUNDAY SERMON

 "There can be no adequate religion, which is not open, four square to the truth. "The moral gain will be beyond estimate when an exaggerated reverence for the words of the bible shall disappear and in its place shall come the spiritual consciousness which created the bible. "Religion is not conceived in actual fact to have anything to do with business, with politics, with anything in our whole social life, and that explains why our so-called religion today is such a puny thing, why it has been banished steadily to the remote background of our life. "The religion of Philadelphia has been, up to date as impotent to affect the moral rottenness of its politics or of its business, as its drinking water, taken from the unspeakably filthy Schuylkill river, has failed to check the ravages of Philadelphia's periodic plague, typhoid fever. "Unless the church gets onto its job, unless the church furnishes this great materialism of ours with a soul, in the very process of its failure it will rot, and spiritual emancipation will have come from another source."—William Thurs on Brown. *****

"Wanted, An Adequate Religion." Speaking from this novel theme at the Unitarian church Sunday morning, William Thurston Brown, Field Secretary of the American Unitarian association for the Rocky Mountain district, delivered a striking and powerful sermon. Incidentally he paid his respects to the corrupt state of affairs in Philadelphia and "the attitude of the smug churchmen which makes these conditions possible."

"I venture to name three qualities which will infallibly mark anything which may justly be called an adequate religion," said Mr. Brown.

"An adequate religion not only will sound bold and free thinking, but will demand as a prime and fundamental requisite the limitless freedom of the human mind. Not only that, but it will have no more insistent demand than that the freest exercise of the mind to the world shall have untrammeled opportunity to think that no conditions shall be tolerable which may cramp or dwarf or stunt the human intellect."

"Has there not been a suspicion throughout Christianendom that this freedom of thinking is dangerous, is sinful? Is it not true that 'free thinking' and 'free thought' are phrases which common usage has made synonymous with irreligion, with infidelity? What is more to the point is it not true that conditions widely prevail in human employment which disfranchise millions from citizenship in the world of thought?"

"The human mind demands more sacredly imperative than this, that we men and women shall be, as an eminent publicist puts it, 'all there' in religion; that no man shall feel that he must deny the fullest exercise of his intellect, his faculty which in a supreme sense, makes him a man, his reason, his intellect, in order to be religious. There can be no adequate religion which is not open, four square, to the truth, which does not pay reverence to truth as itself the very presence and life of God."

Will Make God Real. "In the second place, an adequate religion makes God real and available in aid for personal, individual life. It is simply the affirmation that the personal sense of God which every prophet of any age has possessed is forever a human right, a human possibility."

"We read in some of our liturgies the words of these incomparable Psalms: 'The Lord is a very present help in trouble. The Lord is my shepherd. I shall not want. He maketh me lie down in green pastures, he leadeth me beside the still waters. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits; who forgiveth all thine iniquities, who healeth all thy diseases, who crowneth thee with loving kindness and tender mercies.' We read these sacred words, we say amen, but because they are in the bible, sacred only because they stand for human fact, the fact that men like ourselves have tapped the inexhaustible reservoir of moral power and spiritual grandeur, that men there were who found God available for the least and humblest needs of life, and because of that experience their souls flowed into songs whose beauty and refreshment are self-evidenced more than two thousand years ago. I say, we read these words and fancy we can make them our own, forgetting that not the words, but the experience of communion, of dependence, of a sense of God, is the vital thing. The moral gain will be beyond estimate when an exaggerated reverence for the words of the bible shall disappear and in its place come the acceptance of the same moral tasks and therefore possession of the same spiritual consciousness which created the bible and can create other scriptures as sacred."

Include the Whole Man. "In the third place, an adequate religion will be social in its nature. That is to say, it will include the whole man, and not some petty fraction of his life. We have had no religion, thus far, which has included the whole man. We have none now that even contemplates such a thing. Religion is not conceived in actual fact to have anything to do with business, with politics, with anything in our social life."
